Hi Cathy,

I called your husband towards the end of the video to tell him how dead brilliant the coaching session was.

I admire your mentee's candor and how she trusts you. It truly shows. The sequence of open ended questions afforded your mentee a opportunity to elaborate on the structure of the lesson, goals which were clearly stated and how the learning was to be assessed.

The ease in which you both communicate with each other tells me that you have established a great peer coaching relationship. Well done!
